Davis, President, and CEO of Nautilus Biotech Corporation announced over the High Holy Days and Shabbat שַׁבָּת שׁוּבָה the official launch of a new patent-pending and innovative sore throat cough drop called JEWISH PENICILLIN™ Cough Drops, that provides the unique cold fighting effects of chicken soup and menthol, which helps to support the feelings of clear breathing. JEWISH PENICILLIN Cough Drops provide fast, effective cough and sore throat relief. JEWISH PENICILLIN Cough Drops work quickly in those moments when you need fast relief -- from a cough or dry, scratchy, or sore throat.

"Your Jewish grandmother may have unknowingly believed that her chicken soup had a mysterious therapeutic effect on the immune system, the old adage: Feed a cold, starve a fever, may be a medically sound principle when it comes to the common cold," said Davis. "Her homemade chicken soup was renowned for relieving colds and nourishing pregnant women," noted Davis. Traditional Chicken soup may contain a number of substances with beneficial medicinal activity including an anti-inflammatory mechanism that could ease the symptoms of upper respiratory tract infections, according to a new study. The study was reported in the October issue of CHEST, the peer-reviewed journal of the American College of Chest Physicians. The suspected benefits of chicken soup were reported centuries ago. The Egyptian Jewish physician and philosopher, Moshe ben Maimonides, recommended chicken soup for respiratory tract symptoms in his writings back in the 12th century. Hence the well-earned nickname of "Jewish penicillin."

"There are substances (in chicken soup) that could affect cells in the body, that could potentially have medicinal effects, but whether they are good or bad for you, we didn't test," said study author Dr. Stephen Rennard, Larson professor of medicine at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha. Because the study was done in a laboratory and not in humans, Rennard cautions that it remains to be seen whether one would even absorb the substances that appeared to have beneficial effects in the lab.
